

Abstract

The invention relates to a moulding composition and to the mouldings which can be produced therefrom. Due to 5 their good resistance in the hot water cycle test and in the hot-water/isopropanol test, the plastics mouldings have particularly good suitability for the production of sanitary components.